

BUSINESS LEADERS
SEE SPEEDY RETURN TO PROSPERITY

Wanamaker and Bedford Highly Optimistic — Say Everyone Should Keep Up Their Courage.

New York, Sept. 29. — The speedy return of prosperity with plenty of work for all was predicted by two notable figures in industrial and mercantile circles, Charles E. Bedford, president of the Vacuum Oil Company, and John Wanamaker, merchant, of New York and Philadelphia.

"Business revival week," said Mr. Wanamaker, "I think will be expanded into a business revival of years and years. I have more faith in America today and more expectation for the future than at any time in my sixty years as a merchant."

"There will be plenty of work for all if we show our faith, not by holding back in fear, putting on blue glasses and keeping our money in our pockets, but by making needed improvements, starting to build and rebuild, buying and selling—putting to work our energies, our brains, our money, everything we have—for the good of the country."

In Mr. Bedford's view, conditions will be restored to normal by spring, barring unforeseen developments.

"It is my opinion," he said, "that American business men now have abundant cause to be optimistic and hopeful as to the future. Likewise those who are engaged in relieving the unemployment situation may find the same reasons for a belief that it will be brought to normal before very long."

"Business and with it employment have picked up steadily since the low ebb reached this summer and both continue to show a gradual and steady growth. Unless the central European or some unforeseen crisis intervenes, there is every reason to believe that the improvement will continue throughout the fall and winter months."

Chicago, Sept. 29.—While the counting of the strike ballots of members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will not be completed until late today, unofficial reports were that 90 per cent. were opposed to acceptance of the wage cut of July 1, authorized by the United States Railroad Labor board.

Dr. Dodson is the type of man our City Council needs badly and his popularity in his own ward should mean his unanimous choice.

DEATH PENALTY IS
SLAYER OF TWO

Mountaineer Who Killed Husband and Child Over Wife Must Die In the Electric Chair.

Pikeville, Ky., Sept. 29. — The age-old tragedy of the "eternal triangle," enacted this time with the rugged mountain folk as principals, resulted in the sentence of death being pronounced Wednesday on Dave Brown, convicted here of the murder of James Brumfield and his four-year-old daughter, May 30.

Strangely tangled was the skein of human emotions which led to the death of the aggrieved husband and the child he was carrying in his arms. Brumfield's wife had left her home, husband and children on the Ball Ford of Pond Creek in this county. Efforts of her husband to persuade her to return proved futile.

Then Brumfield swore to a warrant and, with his daughter and Deputy Sheriff Joe McCoy, went to Brown's home to arrest him and Mrs. Brumfield. They failed to find Brown and were preparing to arrest her when she agreed to return to her husband.

They were on their way home, when Brown appeared in the branch, stopped the party, then fired three shots at Brumfield, who was carrying his child in his arms. As Brumfield sank, Brown fired three more shots, according to the testimony of the Deputy Sheriff.

Brumfield died almost instantly. His daughter, with a bullet hole through her head, lived only a short time. Brown escaped into the mountains, but was arrested before the sun had set that day. He told the officers that he did not mean to kill the child.

THE GOLD THAT IMMIGRATED.

Eighty-eight million dollars' worth of gold arrived in the United States in August, bringing the total since January 1 up very close to half a billion dollars.

Prof. Irving Fisher, the Yale economist, and his followers insist that when gold becomes plentiful, prices of commodities rise and speculation and inflation follow. Well, there has been a slight rise in prices since July 1, but nothing remarkable. And certainly speculation has been as dead as a last year's fly. So this gives the school of economists opposed to Fisher's views a chance for a glorious gloat.

But perhaps Fisher is right, because the half billion of gold which has floated to our shores in eight months has had no chance to show its speed. The Federal Reserve banks have simply trapped it on its arrival and thrown it into their dungeons—their vaults. None of the gold has been placed in circulation as money, nor used as the basis of expansion of notes or credits or loans. In other words, it can have had no more effect on business or prices than so much gold ore buried far beneath the surface of the ground.

At present we are not saying that this treatment of real money is a good thing or a bad thing—but that's what has happened to gold that emigrated to America in 1921.

24½ Million Dollars Invested by Employees of Swift & Company

More than 21,000 employees of Swift & Company own or are paying for shares in the business. These men and women have attested their faith in the integrity and good will of the company by investing their savings in the business.

Their holdings represent a total of nearly 250,000 shares, the par value ($100 a share) of which is more than $24,500,000.

These 21,000 represent more than one-third of our average number of employees!

One man out of every three, in plant, office, and branch house, from the handworker on the floor to the brain worker at the desk; working with us as well as for us, devoting himself to his own business while devoting himself to ours; promoting his own interests in every motion or moment saved, in every product improved or maintained at perfection, in every service rendered through prompt, thorough, effective distribution of products.

This interested, eager group of fellow partners working with us for the good of Swift & Company and the public which we serve, constitutes one-half of the ownership of Swift & Company in point of numbers, and nearly one-sixth in point of shares outstanding.

It represents practical and successful progress toward the end at which enlightened modern industry is aiming for the solution of industrial problems—toward cooperation, mutuality, brotherhood in business, for the good of all.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington. — Contrasting President Harding's letter written for use in the New Mexico senatorial contest with the Wilson letter asking for election of a Democratic Congress in 1918, the Republican Publicity Association says in a statement issued recently: "Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, who seems to be the new leader of the Democrats in Congress, charges that President Harding's letter setting forth the accomplishments of the administration is similar in effect to the letter which President Wilson sent out on the eve of election in 1918 asking for the return of a Democratic Congress."

"But there are several important differences. Let it be admitted that Harding's letter was written to help the senatorial election in New Mexico. It was a political letter. It is just such a letter as any President might properly write in ordinary times."

"But the Wilson letter was not written in ordinary times. President Wilson had but a few weeks before issued a declaration that 'politics is adjourned.' We were in the midst of war and he called upon all citizens to lay aside partisanship and unite in the effort to win. Republicans acquiesced in this, but on the eve of election when it was presumably too late for the Republicans to reply, Wilson issued his infamous appeal for election of a Democratic Congress as an expression of confidence in him and his leadership when peace negotiations should be taken up. The result was defeat for the Democratic candidates and the election of a Republican majority in the House."

"Senator Harrison knows all this, and knows that there is no similarity between the Harding letter setting forth the Republican record, with no appeal for votes, and the Wilson letter, appealing for votes but not setting forth the record."

EXPORTS HELP FARMERS.

In August of this year the United States exported 58,536,829 bushels of wheat. The figure is more than twice as large as any other monthly export figures during or since the war. Such a large foreign trade in foodstuffs can not but bring prosperity to this country. Anything that enables the farmers to dispose of their surplus stocks at reasonable prices strikes at the root of all industrial evil.

ARMY ORGANIZED MUTUAL AID ASSOCIATION

Officers of American Regular Army
Complete Organization of Society
For Their Mutual Help.

The Army Mutual Aid Association, an organization of officers of the regular forces, formed to give insurance and assistance to its members has increased its membership 15.5 per cent. during the past six months. This is the greatest growth that the association has experienced during the past forty years.

The campaign for members is under the direction of Major General Frank

W. Coe, Chief of Coast Artillery. The association marked time during the world war with the result that at the beginning of the present fiscal year of the organization the membership was 1658. During the past six months 257 new members have been accepted and 23 applications are on hand at the present time.

The officers of the organization are: President, Maj. Gen. Frank McIntyre, Chief, Bureau of Insular Affairs; Vice President, Maj. Gen. Frank W. Coe; Secretary and Treasurer, Major H. R. Stiles, Ret.; Executive Committee: Maj. Gen. Frank W. Coe; Colonels John K. Miller, and Charles H. Martin, Adj. Gen. Dept.; Maj. Gen. Frank McIntyre, Chief, Bureau of Insular Affairs; Brigadier Gen. Leon A. Haffie, Ret.; Maj. Gen. Merritt W. Ireland, The Surgeon General, U. S. Army; Maj. Charles H. Patterson, Inspector General's Department.

NAVY DEPARTMENT WISE.

A Washington, D. C., paper, which is, of course, much interested in keeping up the local government payroll, protests against the dismissal of navy yard employees who are not needed. The argument is advanced that the Government should keep its organization together for future use. That might be a sound argument if there were any probability of needing the men in the future, but since the Navy Department is returning to a peace basis and reducing the war-time scale of employment, there is no prospect whatever of future need of the surplus men. When taxpayers are groaning under the burden of taxes they can not raise the money to pay, it is utter folly to argue that the government should retain on its payrolls men it does not need. There is neither honesty nor sense in robbing Peter to pay Paul.

PLAN TO CONTROL LEAF IN THREE DARK DISTRICTS.

ENDORSED AT HOME.

Such Proof as This Should Convince Any Maysville Citizen.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow-citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Maysville adds one more to the many cases of Home Endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

D. S. Stout, 22 East Second street, Maysville, says: "Just after my recovery from pneumonia, my kidneys began to give me trouble. My back had a steady dull ache and it hurt me to breathe. My eyes would get puffy underneath. I knew my kidneys were in bad shape and something would have to be done to check the disorder so I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. It didn't take long to rid me of my trouble. I take pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

New York Letter

New York. — Dramatic critics of today have a manner of incidentally discussing, or at least touching upon various phases of current affairs, in the writing of their criticisms. They used to be a different type with a different viewpoint, and anything which happened in the mundane world outside the stage was of trifling consequence to them. An old-time New York City editor was discussing this change the other day and he recalled a shining instance of that mental attitude. One November night, a famous critic then on his staff, turned to the city editor's desk after turning in his review of a new play. "I thought this might interest you," he remarked. "When I left the theater I saw a crowd in the street shouting and blowing horns, and rioting generally." "Why, you poor old fool!" responded the city editor. "Don't you know that the people of this country have just elected a president?"

Jacob Zarendock was too ambitious for his years; and he made the mistake of doubling on his deals too rapidly, according to the police and Benjamin Schenck. Just two weeks ago, Schenck bought a cigar store at 210 Avenue B of young Zarendock. Ever since then part of the stock has disappeared regularly each night. Finally the detectives caught the former owner along about midnight just as he was making way with $500 worth of cigars and $82 from the cash drawer. "The stuff belonged to me one-time, why not again?" he had argued reasonably to himself.

One more old landmark of New York's pre-prohibition days has gone, or at least been so transformed that it never will seem the same to the old patrons. This is famous old Bridge Cafe, which nestles under the shadow of the Manhattan end of the Brooklyn Bridge at Park Row and Chambers street. It has become an orange juice dispensary! And along with it, in that new and harmless occupation have gone the old Cafe Martin, Weber and Fields Music Hall, the old Pabst Cafe, and others of equal renown. Just orange juice now—that is all any of them will ever know from now on. It's a peaceful end of a long life!

There is a new dancing team in town, which comes bearing honors from pretty nearly all of Europe to an extent rarely before equalled by an American dancing couple. Maurice and Leonora Hughes have just arrived to demonstrate steps they did before the king and queen of England at a dinner at the home of Lord Curzon, and those they taught the eager patrons of their dancing emporium in Paris. They are going to dance here in Charles Dillingham's new production, "Good Morning, Dearie," by Jerome

Its members are already flocking back to town, and are opening up the great country estates near at hand, which have been deserted for Europe or Maine during the summer. The mind that sees business opportunities right close to her day's habit is going to be successful some day. The girls in one downtown office here lived in terror of a rain beginning just as they were going home and raining their frocks. So one of the stenographers — the one with that business sense — arranged an insurance scheme. "If you girls will pay me ten cents a week each," she said, "I'll have a taxi take you to the subway and elevated stations when it rains. On the revenue of a dollar a week, I'm sure of making money into the long run." They agreed and the plan is in effect. The rain must start after they get to the office in the morning; otherwise they as the opera season at the Metropolitan, will cut deeply into the brilliance of the latter affair.

Joe Hogan, who landed in New York the other day, has a story to compete with any ever dreamed by Joseph Conrad, Peter H. Kyne, or any of the rest of the writers of the sea. Joe, whose home is at 351 Herkimer street, left school at the beginning of the war to fight in the air service. He planned to come home when it was all over, but he shipped aboard a cattle boat, instead, bound for New Zealand. In the course of his travels on the seven seas since that time until his arrival safe back in New York harbor, he had been slunked; ordered thrown overboard at sea; stabbed and left for dead on the streets of Melbourne; caught in the worst tropical storm of the year in a wheezy tramp; a few other minor experiences. One interesting addition to the story is that the day after Joe got home, he took a long look at the city and the harbor and then shipped for Havana! LUCY JEANNE PRICE

MYSTERIES DEVELOP

Chicago, Sept. 29. — Investigation by Federal authorities of liquor rings, said to involve half of Chicago's 5,000 policemen, is being speeded up today following half a dozen sensational developments yesterday.

These included the death of a woman when being questioned at the Federal building; the finding of an alleged whisky runner dead on a country road; the holdup of a freight train, which was robbed of twenty cases of gin; the alleged confession of a police officer, and the hunt for a "ruin pirate" ship.

Mrs. Rose Allen died a few minutes after questioning by an assistant district attorney regarding her connection with alleged extortion schemes. An investigation also is under way to determine if she committed suicide. An investigation also is under way to determine if she committed suicide. TICKETS SELLING WELL
FOR BIG MUSICAL SHOW

First Big Musical Comedy of the Year To Have Large Attendance Advance Ticket Sale Indicates.

Seats are now on sale for the forthcoming presentation at the Washington Theater on Thursday night of Pantheon and Marco's musical comedy production "Sun-Kist" which comes here direct from its triumphant engagement at the Globe Theater in New York where it established itself in the early spring as one of the genuine hits of the current season. "Sun-Kist" is away from the usual run of musical comedies, in that it has a real plot, sufficient to maintain the interest of the spectator throughout, and it is replete with tuneful music, clean-cut comedy, exceptional dancing and clever principals, to say nothing of the original heavy chorus of sun-kist Californians.

"Sun-Kist" is from the pen of Pantheon and Marco, they having written both music and lyrics, as well as sponsoring its production. It is a product of San Francisco, and is the first musical comedy success that has ever had its inception in the far West. Among the featured principals will be found Dell Chain, Don Barelay, Si Layman and Helen Kling, Hyman Meyer, Cornish Beck (the original Penrod) and others, including Lucita Cover, Charlotte Woodruff, Daisy De Witte, Rowena Hall, Helen Kennedy, and hosts of others both pretty and shapely.

MURDERED WOMAN
FOUND IN CLOSET

Couple Lived For Days In Room With Body of Murdered Woman In Closet.

New York, Sept. 29. — Detectives today were trying to trace a couple known as Mr. and Mrs. Boulanger, who, it is believed, lived for several days unwittingly in a room where the body of a young woman friend—murdered—had been stored.

The body, packed away in newspapers, was found last night in an unused closet of a lodging house room which the Boulangers had occupied. A cloth gag had been tied into the woman's mouth with a white stocking.

The date of one of the newspapers, September 21, is believed to fix the date of the murder. The Boulangers did not quit the room until last Monday, four days later. Other lodgers said they thought the Boulangers had gone to Montreal.

The murdered woman was known at the lodging house only as "Mrs. Fay." The proprietor told the police that "Mr. Fay" left the house last Thursday, saying that "Mrs. Fay" had fallen ill and that he had removed her to a hospital. He is being sought in connection with her death.

ROYAL'S BIG ELEPHANT LIZZIE
SPANKS LITTLE NAPOLEON.

Most of us grown-ups were made familiar with our mother's slipper or the weight of our father's hand years ago when the world was younger, while undergoing a certain process—not popular with the small boy of any age—known as "spanking." From this time memorial up to the present, it has been the favorite method by which parents have corrected the small faults and misdemeanors of their offspring, and every one knows how it is done, and how it feels. That is, everyone that is human, and has had a father and mother who have tried to bring them up "in the way they should go." But to spank an elephant? You never heard of it, did you? No, of course not, for it was never done in this country until the other day and this was how it happened. While the show was in Boston, the keepers took the elephants and the bosalapis down to the river for a bath, and such a bath! Into the river they ran pell-mell, like a lot of school boys. After an hour's playing and swimming, ducking and chasing one another up and down, the headkeeper thought it about time for them to come out and go back to the tent, particularly as it was then nearing the time for the doors to open. At the word of command, they all, like dutiful animals they are, came out on shore except his royal highness Napoleon, who had made up his mind that a bath was so good a thing on a warm day that he would stay in until he got good and ready to come out, command or no command. Convinced and threats weigh of no avail, and no boats being near, nothing could be done but wait. His lordship swam, waded, and ducked at his own sweet pleasure for nearly an hour, and then quietly walked ashore, and made a quick run for the tents, knowing full well that he had done wrong. The superintendent of the menagerie, who had spent a few years in India catching wild animals, said he would give him a spanking he would never forget. And he did. He had Venus and Cleo lead Napoleon out into an opening near some big trees. Then he chained the latter's legs to big iron stakes that were driven into the ground, so that he could not move. Then a heavy rope was fastened to Lizzie's trunk. When all was ready and Lizzie had taken her position, the superintendent gave his word, and down came the rope with a tremendous whack that made little Napoleon trumpet and roar for all he was worth. At first he trembled with fear, but towards the end of his punishment he begged like a good fellow, and by his actions afterward he must have been terribly ashamed. At any rate he has been on his good behavior ever since, and when you see him, you will never think he had been a naughty little elephant. No indeed.

LOCALS READY TO OPEN CHAMP SERIES

Strong Lineup of Locals in Championship Series Opening Saturday, day and Sunday.

The strongest line-up possible will face Winchester Saturday when Maysville clashes with them in the first game of their five game series. It is possible that Shepard, former Ohio State Leaguer, who has just finished the season in an eastern league will pitch one of the two games here. A telegram from Catcher Monk states that Valoden will be on hand for sure and with three pitchers on hand, Cooper, Hoskins and Shepard, the team will be complete for the series.

Saturday's game will start a little late to allow the clerks of the downtown stores to wait on the mid-afternoon crowds and then come to the park. The managers are trying to arrange with the Boys' Band to play a concert at the park and hold the crowd until about 3:15 when the game is called.

In a great game last Sunday between Winchester and Cincinnati, which resulted in a 3 to 2 tie, the Hesters appeared to be in the best of form and ready for the fray to start Saturday. The biggest crowds of the season are expected to be out at the two games.

COLORED CITIZENS.

PAINS IN
SIDE AND BACK

Caused by Woman's Ills and Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Grafton, Pa.—"I was troubled with inflammation and pains in my sides and back. After doctoring with different doctors and not getting relief, I had almost given up hopes when my sister told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and knowing that she had really been helped by it, I purchased it. I was unable to do my work at that time, but after taking several bottles of the Vegetable Compound I can now do anything about the house or farm that a woman should do. I have a four months old baby that is the healthiest and biggest baby for his age that I have ever seen. I am willing for my letter to be used for a testimonial to tell other suffering women how much your medicine has done for me, as I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all the praise."—Mrs. BLAIR L. FISHER, R.D.1, Box 37, Grafton, Pa.

Working early and late—lifting, carrying, and the heaviest of household duties—is it any wonder that it results in backaches and kindred ills. But every woman who suffers as Mrs. Fisher did should profit by her experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.
